WINNERS AT SHOW

LATE AWARDS IN THE HORSE AND MULE SHOW.

FUN IN OBSTACLE DRIVING

Three Trials to Decide Contest in This Class—Interest Shown by Number of Entries.

The horse, mule and colt show given all day Wednesday as a feature of the street fair was certainly a success, and great interest was taken in it all day by the many visitors that were in the city. Many were the people who remarked during the show: "I didn't know that Nodaway county had so many fine horses."

In the best lady driver class, where the horse and buggy was furnished by the committee, and they were to drive between obstacles and ability of driver alone to count, there were only six entries, and every one of them were good. It looked for a time as if the contest would be tied, as a third trial was given to three of the entries, who had tied. Much amusement was had by the crowd out of this contest.

In the Shetland pony contest, to be shown under saddle by a child under 14 years of age, the main feature of the afternoon show, as many amusing things happened. Many children entered the contest, and it took the judges some time to decide.

A QUEER SORT OF HOLIDAY.

The Missouri Statute recognizing Columbus Day is Anomalous.

Thursday, Columbus day, is a public holiday, but not a legal holiday, in Missouri. The distinction is of sufficient importance to prevent the closing of the banks, although bankers say they would be glad to celebrate the day if they could do so. Lawyers say they do not know of another law in any state similar to that which the Missouri legislature passed a few years ago recognizing Columbus day.

The act is as follows:

The twelfth day of October is hereby declared to be a public holiday, to be known as Columbus day, and the same shall be recognized, classed and treated as other legal holidays, under the laws of this state; provided, that this section shall not be construed to affect commercial paper, the making or executing of agreements or instruments in writing, or interfere with judicial procedures.

MEETING TO DISCUSS RURAL HIGH SCHOOL OCTOBER 18.

THOUSANDS WAITED IN RAIN TO SEE PUBLIC WEDDING.

4 DISTRICTS IN HUGHES

Highland, East Star, Elkhorn and Morgan May Have Only One School.

A meeting is to be held at the Palestine church, October 18, for the purpose of discussing a proposed plan of consolidating four rural school districts of Hughes township. The meeting is called by the school officers of the four districts, and the plan to consolidate the four districts into one seems to meet with the approval of many.

The four schools that are being talked of as being consolidated are the Highland, East Star, Morgan and Elkhorn. They are located in Hughes township.

A discussion of the proposed plan will be made at the meeting by County Superintendent Oakerson and W. A. Blagg, president of the Normal board of regents, and also the Maryville school board. Other talks will be made by local men.

If one rural school district is made, the plan is to establish a rural high school in connection with the grades, and also to transport pupils that live in the outer districts to the school.

The same proposition is being urged in the community of the Harmony church, near Ravenwood, by some of the rural schools.

THE TWO ENGINEERS HERE.

Will Go Over Water Plant With Manager Street.

Hiram Phillips of St. Louis and Burns & McDonald of Kansas City are in Maryville today, and on Friday will commence work going over the water plant, seeing the condition of the machinery, standpipe, etc. These are the two engineering firms hired by the board of public works to take the valuation of the plant.

E. L. Street of New York City, general manager of the city water company, will arrive in Maryville tonight and on Friday will be with the engineers when they go over the plant.

Still Winning Prizes.

At the American Royal live stock show being held in Kansas City, Omar Catterson of Maryville is winning many prizes on his stock of Aberdeen Angus. In Wednesday's show he won the following prizes in the Aberdeen Angus class: Fourth on Queen of Maplehurst 21st in the senior yearling helper class, fourth on Miss Quality 2d in the junior yearling class, first on Erica Dean and fourth on Black Bird Chloe 2d in the senior calf class, fourth in the aged herd class, second in the young herd class, and second on Young Clansman in the get of sire class.

Charles Hyslop returned Thursday morning from a week's stay at Carthage, Ill., where he was called by the death of Mrs. Hyslop's mother.

A marriage license was issued by Recorder Wray Wednesday afternoon to James Reese and Merle E. Smith of Skidmore.

SPEAKING OF 'ANNUAL FALL OPENINGS'

in human relations was about to be consummated, and he wished them to become quiet at once, in order that he might proceed with the ceremony in the good manner, in which it should be done. The people responded at once and every word of the minister could be distinctly heard, while the responses by the bride and groom could be heard by those who stood near.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the band began to play and the crowd again cheered as the bridal party re-entered their automobiles and drove away in showers of rice.

Luduska Fostina Groves, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Groves, who live three miles east of Hopkins, was the bride, and Mr. Harry W. Bollinger, the 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Bollinger of Hopkins, was the bridegroom.

The bride, a pretty, slender girl with dark blue eyes and a wealth of wavy black hair, wore a very becoming empire gown of cream silk mesh-satin with trimmings of lace net. The sash was knotted at the side with rosettes and fastened with a pearl buckle. She wore long white kid gloves, white satin slippers and a white velvet picture hat, with soft, fluffy marabout band and aigrette. She carried an arm bouquet of two dozen bride roses.

The Maryville band headed the wedding procession, followed by Mayor Robey's automobile, driven by Jesse Fisher, carrying three of the ribbon girls. The second car was driven by Roy Moore and carried the other three ribbon girls. The third car was driven by Earl Barmann and carried the bride and groom and the ring bearer and Rev. Parvin, the minister.

On arriving at the platform the ribbon girls, who were Leila Maier, Pauline Wilson, Juanita Neal, Mildred Bellows, Lou Mutz and Gladys Morehouse, formed an aisle of ribbons for the bride and groom as they passed up the stairway, the band playing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

The platform was decorated in white, bunting and festooning being used entirely. An archway, from which hung three large white wedding bells, formed the altar for the bridal couple. The decoration was the work of F. R. Marcel, A. J. Luppold and J. E. Paullette. Arranged on the platform were the kitchen cabinet, the cooking range, the sewing machine and the heating stove that were among the gifts for the bride.

As the bridal party took their places under the wedding bells, Rev. Parvin turned to the assembly, who had gathered to witness the appearance of the bride and groom with cheers, and reminded them that the most sacred ordinance

LANDON TO MANAGE

NEXT YEAR'S CHAUTAUQUA IN HIS HANDS.

WANT 300 STOCKHOLDERS

Company to Be Incorporated as Soon as Stock Subscriptions Can Be Collected.

A meeting of the board of directors for the permanent Chautauqua company for Maryville met this morning in the office of County Superintendent Oakerson and perfected their organization by electing Rev. C. J. Miller recording secretary of the board. Prof. Oakerson is the chairman of the board.

The board decided to hire Prof. E. O. Landon, who so successfully managed this year's Chautauqua, to manage the Chautauqua for 1912. They also instructed Mr. Landon to have the subscription collected and to issue stock, so the company can be incorporated. The articles of incorporation will be written soon, so this work will be done before very long.

At present there are 150 singers for stock at $10 a share. The board is to make an effort to get 300 stockholders.

The program committee that is working on the program for the Chautauqua is well pleased with what talent they have at the present time. They are making plans to secure the best talent obtainable.

MARRIED AT FIRST STREET FAIR.

Bridal Couple of Ten Years Ago Here to Witness 1911 Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Manes of Blanchard, Ia., arrived in Maryville Wednesday night to spend Thursday in Maryville, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Nicholas, at 306 West Main street. Mr. Manes is a nephew of Mrs. Nicholas. They came to attend the street fair wedding and were as much interested, probably, as anyone, aside from the bride and groom and their parents, as they were the first couple to take advantage of the offer of our business men at the first street fair ten years ago. They had a bright, sunshiny day and more wedding guests than the bride and groom of Thursday, as many regrets came on account of the threatening rain.

Here's to the bride and groom of the street fair. May joys and good fortune attend them as bountifully in future as good wishes are showered upon them in their all important wedding day.

It must be rather galling to Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin to know that it cost him $107,000 to get a back seat in the United States senate when his colleague, Senator La Follette, got in the front row for $500.

The magnificent showing of good horses at the street fair Wednesday further convinces us that an old-time county fair would be a great success in Maryville, and is needed by the livestock interests of the county.

The St. Louis Cardinals and the St.
Louis Browns, in their inner city match, played a 0 to 0 game until darkness stopped the contest. If they had played this kind of ball last summer there would have been different results in the big leagues.

The tremendous majority by which the amendment for the recall proposition has just carried in California must be a distinct shock to the president, who is now sojourning in the west, with a view to winning its support in the next nominating convention. Mr. Taft's vigorous denunciation of the recall principle and his denial of statehood to Arizona because the people of that territory wanted it, seems to have whetted the appetites of western voters for the very thing he would deny them. Woman suffrage

presents the following array of facts:

House painters and decorators complain that their business is injured materially by the increasing habit of the people to spend money for automobiles and neglect the interior finish of their homes.

The furniture trade has been affected seriously because householders cease buying in order to invest in the machines.

Real estate dealers complain of dullness in their line on account of the tendency of people to buy automobiles instead of lands and houses.

Theater managers assert that their business is in danger because of the claim which the horseless machines seem to possess over the attractions of the stage.

Dealers in musical instruments,
book sellers, clothiers and costumers,
in fact nearly all class of tradesmen and manufacturers join in evidence that the automobile craze is injuring their business.

The conditions are serious. But the craze must have its run.

THREW THE BODIES INTO RIVER

Blacks Leaving Town on Every Train and Steamboat—Mob Burns
Boarding House of Disreputable Negroes.

Caruthersville, Mo., Oct. 12.—A. B.
Rich and Hiram Picketts, two negroes, were shot to death by a mob here, and their bodies pitched into the Mississippi river.

The mob broke into the city jail shortly after midnight and dragged out the two negroes, carrying them to the baseball park near the river.
Sounds of lashing and screams were heard. An hour later the mob burned a negro boarding house that had been the rendezvous of disreputable negroes.

Two white girls, Josie Faulk and Bessie Gee, were followed to their homes by Picketts. He was found hiding among shrubbery and arrested.

The body of Rich was found at the edge of the river. He had been lynched because he stole a package of merchandise and had not needed a warning to leave town. He had been in jail frequently, charged with stealing.
It is said he was responsible for several mysterious fires.

A search has failed to recover the body of Picketts. His body was pitched farther out in the river and sank in deep water.

There has been excitement here
since Lee Fleming and Albert Dugger were slain by a negro. He was arrested and taken to Kennett. A mob captured a train and reached the Kennett jail at midnight. But the negro had been taken from the jail and hidden.

Negroes are numerous in Caruthersville and opposition to them has been growing for some time. In several of the smaller towns of this vicinity notices have been posted advising negroes not to settle there or the consequences would be serious.

With every train and steamboat negroes are leaving. On account of the cotton picking season, Caruthersville has been overrun with negroes from the slums of the cities.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 12.—Gov.
Hadley, who was on his way to Chicago, directed Secretary Thompson, to telephone the sheriff and to advise him at St. Louis whether there was further danger of violence. If so he would abandon the Chicago trip.

Mr. Thompson talked with the sheriff and prosecuting attorney.
They told him the city was quiet.
When the governor returns from Chicago he will direct an investigation.

Lee Murder Trial Is Begun.

Boonville, Ind., Oct. 12.—William
Lee, the 22-year-old self-confessed
slayer of his mother, father and brother, was placed on trial here today.
According to Lee, the motive for his crime was the refusal of his parents to finance his courtship of Nina Taylor, his 17-year-old sweetheart. He has made four confessions. It is expected that his lawyers will make a plea of insanity. The crime was committed during the latter part of August.

order and they were formally welcomed by Mayor Head, President T. C.

AERIAL THRILL FOR KANSAS CITY

Rodgers, on His Trans-Continental Trip, Drops Down in Swope Park
Without Mishap.

Kansas City, Oct. 12.—The first Trans-Continental flier landed in Kansas City on his air journey from the Atlantic to the Pacific. And the bird-man, Calbraith P. Rodgers, gave Kansas City an aerial thrill the like of which it never had experienced before. He braved the treacherous air currents that eddy about the Missouri River bluffs and the tall buildings of Kansas City, something no aviator ever has done before, and landed safely at Swope Park after circling over the city and the two rivers.

The aeroplane came swiftly toward the shelter house, at a height of about 200 feet. A great circle over the building, and the height had been lessened to about fifty feet. The landing place was a small roped-off plot of ground about 200 yards from the shelter house on the golf links, and Rodgers made the gentle descent, landing on the ground within a few feet of the ropes which separated him from the crowd. The landing was made almost without a sound.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IS DEFEATED

California Election Shows Approval of Initiative, Referendum and Recall.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—Woman suffrage has been defeated in California.
The majority in San Francisco (complete) against granting suffrage to women is 13,705, while in the state at large the majority in favor of suffrage to women will not exceed 8,000.

California voters expressed emphatic approval of the progressive legislation fathered by the present state administration. Opposition to the recall of all elective officers, including the judiciary, was buried under an avalanche of favorable votes, which grows larger as the count proceeds.
The amendment received a heavy vote in all parts of the state. The amendment providing for the initiative and referendum rolled up a majority little less than that for the recall proposition.

Strikers Are Restrained.

rary injunction restraining strikers from interfering with the road in the Southern District of Illinois. A hearing on the motion for a permanent injunction will be held November 6.

City of Wu Chang Captured After Long Battle.

REBELS AND TROOPS JOIN FORCES

Students of Chinese Affairs Believe Outbreak May Result in Dismemberment of Empire.

Hankow, China, Oct. 12.—The revolutionaries have captured the city of Wu Chang after a battle with the loyal troops that continued well into the night. Foreign residents are not being molested. The revolutionary committee issued a proclamation exhorting its followers not to harm the citizens of other countries.

The fact that the wishes of the committee have been respected thus far, while reassuring to other nations, is in itself a sinister sign for the government at Peking, as it indicates that the rebellious movement is now more thoroughly organized. There are 25 American missionaries in Wu Chang.

Five gunboats are now in the river in readiness to protect Hankow should the necessity arise. The foreign consuls also have telegraphed their governments asking that warships be sent to the scene. American and Japanese cruisers and several gunboats are hastening thither. As another measure of precaution the merchant vessels in the river are keeping steam up and women and children will be permitted to go aboard them for safety.

According to the officials an uprising in Wu Chang was planned for Monday night. The plot was discovered early that evening and 32 arrests were made. Desiring to terrorize the revolutionaries, four of the prisoners were beheaded in the street before the viceroy's yamen.

The energetic action of the authorities does not appear to have had the desired effect. Immediately after the beheading a part of the government artillery within the city mutilated and the uprising was precipitated.

The troops proved to be disaffected and within a few hours after the first trouble developed the entire city was in an uproar. Fires were started in every corner of the town; the headquarters of the viceroy and of the provincial treasurer were burned, the military commander was killed by a dynamite bomb and the viceroy himself escaped only by flight.

The foreign consuls decided not to comply with the Chinese request that they employ foreign gunboats to prevent the revolutionaries from crossing the river to Hankow. The revolutionaries sent a circular note to the consuls asking that foreigners remain neutral and assuring them that they would not be harmed.

Students of Chinese affairs have believed for a year or more that the signs pointed to a long series of outbreaks, which, many believe, will lead to the dismemberment of the empire.

AMERICAN CORN BROKE A TRUST

Combine of Rice Traders in Philippines Split by Clever Move of Gov. Gen'l Forbes.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Trust busting has spread to the Philippines. Gov. Gen. Forbes has blocked a combine of rice traders there to increase the price of the Filipinos' staple food.

Suspecting the combination Mr. Forbes arranged for an adequate supply of American corn to replace the rice and for the purchase of cargoes of rice in bulk in Indo-China. It will be sold at cost to the famine threatened natives.

As soon as the rice traders found that the Philippine government was entering into a competition with them they began to reduce prices. Gov. Forbes has just cabled that the figure will soon be normal.

KANSAS TEACHER IS MISSING

Has Not Been Seen Since Arriving in Wichita and Friends Fear Foul Play.

Wichita, Oct. 12.—Ralph Johnson, professor of mathematics at the Sterling high school, is sought in Wichita and surrounding towns by officers and friends who fear that he has been killed since reaching here.

Mr. Johnson rode into Wichita from Sterling with Calvin Knight, a school friend, who was coming from California to attend school here. Since leaving Knight at the depot Mr. Johnson has not been seen.

Don't Want Better Roads.

Winfield, Kan., Oct. 12.—Nearly 500 members of the Farmers' League met at the city building here to protest against the levy of the tax for the building of the proposed Winnipeg-Gulf road through Cowley county. The county commissioners had been requested to rescind the tax, and, refusing to do so, to resign. As they would neither rescind nor resign the league has determined to fight the proposition through the courts.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE IN SESSIONFORTY CITIES OF KANSAS MEET IN TOPEKA.

Fifty-One Towns Are Enrolled, Including Every City in State Except Eight—One Withdrawn.

Topeka, Oct. 12.—One hundred delegates, representing 40 cities of Kansas, were here for the first session of the annual meeting of the Municipal League of Kansas Cities. It was the best attendance the league has had and the enthusiasm over the discussion of civic problems was greater than ever before. The league includes all the cities of the state, both with and without commission government. There are 51 cities enrolled in the league, while there were only 34 enrolled a year ago. All except eight cities regarded the league of sufficient importance to pay the dues and some of the eight sent notices that they had overlooked the dues and would remit. Kinsley was the only city to withdraw.

Prof. R. R. Price of the state university, secretary of the league, in his annual report brought a proposition for municipal legal aid and loan service that interested the mayors and city officials.

C. L. Davidson, former mayor of Wichita and president of the league, in the annual address discussed civic problems from the viewpoint of a private citizen who had been a city official.

Mayor Davidson is a strong advocate of the city ownership of public utilities on the basis that the cities have no right to allow outsiders to sell them anything of a public nature and that the city and its citizens were entitled to the profits of the business. He also advocates the plan of putting the burden of taxation on vacant property to force improvement and to squeeze the water out of city real estate.

DEEPER WATER; BIGGER BOATS

Sixth Annual Waterway Convention in Chicago Fills Auditorium to Capacity.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—With a new slogan: "A Deeper Waterway; The Bigger the Boat, the Lower the Rate," the thousands of delegates to the sixth annual convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association gathered today in the Auditorium theater. The great theater was filled to the limit, the delegates representing every state and most of the large cities and commercial organizations. President W. K. Kavanaugh of St. Louis was in the chair, and after the speeches of welcome and responses, the convention got down to the business of considering the waterway project in all its phases.

On the three days' program are many men of national and even international reputation, including a number of governors. The aim of the association is to have congress at its next session pass a bill providing for the construction of a 14-foot channel from Chicago to New Orleans, at all costs. It is estimated that an annual appropriation of $20,000,000 for ten years will have to be made by the United States government, but this is considered of minor importance if 2,765,000 square miles, an area more than half the United States itself, will receive all the benefits of river freight and passenger service.

GOT "BLACK HAND" SUPPLIES

Chicago Police Find Quantity of Bombs, Explosives, Fuses, and List of Names in Grocery.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—What the police believe to be a black hand "clearing house" has been unearthed. Anthony Longoria, the proprietor of a grocery, and another man were taken into custody.

A large amount of "evidence" was seized by the police. This included bombs, dynamite, fuses, percussion caps and other explosives. The most important discovery, however, was a list of 150 names of persons who, it is alleged, have contributed sums to a fund to be used in defending Joseph and Carmelo Nicolosi, now on trial charged with kidnapping Angelo Mariano, a seven-year-old boy.

Boy Robbers Shot a Man.

Omaha, Oct. 12.—Baron Butts and John Gahn, boys of 18 are under arrest charged with the shooting of George Rosenkild, a motorman, while the boys were attempting to hold up a Harney street car here. Rosenkild received a bullet in each leg. Butts is the son of a commission man. The youthful robbers obtained $9.

Montgomery to Aid Dawson.

Pittsburg, Kan., Oct. 12.—It is announced that W. P. Montgomery, assistant attorney general, who has been stationed here for the last year to enforce the prohibitory law, will leave and take a position in the office of Attorney General Dawson at Topeka.

Amateur Night Stopped by Court.

Chickasha, Ok., Oct. 12.—Judge N. M. Williams granted an injunction against the manager of a local theater, enjoining him from putting on an amateur night. The judge decided that the using of children on amateur night was in violation of the state child labor law.

Why the Leaves Fall.

It is not everyone, even in these days of close nature study, who knows that leaves fall because they are actually cut off from the stem by a layer of cork that forms across the base of their stalks. This process is explained very strikingly by Professor Bouger in Knowledge, and what is more he points out that no nourishment is left in the dead leaf, but only the waste products of vitality, of which the tree is well rid. A very promising investigation is suggested by the illustrations, which show that in some trees the end leaf of a twig is the first to fall while in others it is last.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY

Kills the Dandruff Germ
and Makes the Hair Grow

Restores Gray Hair to Natural Color

FEW people are aware of the number of Dandruff Germs that infest the human hair and scalp. The germs which locate themselves in the follicle or sack which envelopes the root of the hair, spend a lazy existence in sucking up the juices which should go to keep life and strength in the hair. These germs cannot be seen by the naked eye, but with a magnifying glass of from 300 to 400 diameters the spores of this hair destroyer may be seen in masses, clinging to the hair.

DANDRUFF, ITCHING OF THE SCALP
AND FALLING HAIR ARE A SURE SIGN OF DESTRUCTIVE GERMS.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy not only kills the dandruff germs and prevents baldness, but it also restores faded and gray hair to natural color.

Don't Experiment With Old Fashioned Hair Dyes

and luxuriance by using Wyeth's Sage and

How It Feels to Fly.

In his volume just published, "The Story of the Aeroplane," Mr. Claude Grahame-White, an experienced aviator and the winner of the Gordon Bennett cup last year, gives this account of one's impressions while driving through space:

Nothing is more graceful than the way in which an aeroplane leaves the ground. It does so without any suggestion of an effort. All one sees, in watching it, is that the wheels, which a moment before were on the ground, are now passing along a foot in the air.

On this point it is curious to remember the experience of passengers when starting upon a flight. So imperceptible is the change from moving along the ground to rising in the air that very few of them ever know when they have actually begun a flight. What happens is that they suddenly look down and discover that the ground has begun to fall away below them.

When you want to rise, you know perfectly well what to do. You tilt your elevator to a little more acute angle and the machine responds at once. Afterwards, well, as one flyer puts it, "You just fly." As you pass along through the air you very soon begin to lose the feeling that your engine is making a very great noise.

You find yourself glancing below. When you are flying fairly close to the ground the fields and country appear to be slipping away very fast. But as you ascend higher you lose this sense of speed. As a matter of fact, at a good height you seem to be moving quite slowly.

As to the fascination of flight, what is it? I have studied it carefully and have compared my own sensations with those of others. One of the best definitions you can find of the general feeling a man has when he is flying is that it is a great curious sense of power.

This may not seem a very satisfactory explanation to the reader, but it is one of the best I can give. I think that, in the back of one's mind when one is flying, is the realization that one is doing something that man has striven in vain to do for many centuries.

It is partly a feeling of conquest. And now you can imagine yourself climbing steadily upward, with the ground fading away below. There is no finer sensation than this, I imagine. One of the most striking things in connection with flying is the responsiveness of one's machine to every controlling movement. While one is flying it is necessary to be making minor adjustments all the time. With one's rudder bar, for instance, one is always more or less occupied. The movements are, to some extent, instinctive. They are the sort of movements that a bicyclist makes to preserve the balance of his machine. All the time while you are flying your machine is being struck by little inequalities of air, and is showing a tendency either to move up or down or from side to side.

Therefore, the movements one makes are very small ones to correct this tendency. One's feet move just a little to and from upon the rudder bar.

This little "joggling" of the rudder is sufficient to keep the machine on a straight course. As regards the elevator, one is moving the rod in one's hand a matter of an inch or so only, and the same applies to the movements in manipulating the ailerons.

A good deal of misconception exists as to the fatigue involved in making an aeroplane flight. Personally, I have found that fatigue is a negligible quantity, save when one is flying in gusty winds. Then, of course, the constant corrective movements that one is bound to make and the strain of keeping so incessant a control of one's machine is apt to have a very fatiguing effect.

As a matter of fact, I think there is less actual strain in piloting an aeroplane across the country than there is in driving a high-powered car from point to point along the road.

There is exhilaration, of course, in driving a well-found car on a good road, but this is a poor thing when piloting an aeroplane is compared with it.

To be in the air! To feel your motor speeding you on! To hold the lever and feel the machine while in flight answer to your slightest move!

To look below and see the country unfolding itself to your gaze, and to know that you and you alone are the master of the situation—the man who is doing this wonderful thing! Realization of all these points gives you something of a feeling of awe.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help,
Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer.

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die. At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains.

Cardui worked like a charm."

There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease.

Please try it, for your troubles.

WORLD'S CHAMPION WALKER.

Track Inspector Has Traveled Equivalent to Seven Times Around Globe.

George A. Burris, the oldest track walker in point of service on the Pennsylvania railroad, has just put his 177,900th mile behind him. In keeping vigil over the track in his care, he has walked the equivalent of seven and one-third times around the world in the last thirty-five years. Journeying four times a day between Greensburg, Pa., and Youngwood Yard, a distance of 3.53 miles, he has inspected 5,725,800 splice plates on half that many rail joints.

Other Pennsylvania track watchmen who have distance records are William Young of Franklyn, Pa., with 154,144 miles in twenty-two years and eight months; Dennis Watters, Norristown, Pa., with 111,624 miles in twenty-four years; Simon Owens, Washington, D. C., with 135,626 miles in twenty-five years and four months, and Julius Hein of Edgewood, Md., who has covered 101,100 miles in twenty-three years and three months. These five men together have walked nearly a million miles.

Track inspection is reduced to an exact science on the Pennsylvania. A patrolman registers in the tower at the end of his beat the hour and minute of his arrival; departs on his journey and registers similarly on the other end. He carries a registering clock, by which his trips can be checked to the minute. His route usually covers about four miles, but is less than half this on stretches where special watchfulness is needed. At night the inspector has only the light of his lantern to work by, but he must see that every frog, switch and signal is in good order.

If a nearby tree looks dangerous, he must report, so that it can be chopped down. An overhanging rock may become loose—the track walker must know about it in time to avert a possible accident. The wash of waters must be looked after. Road crossings must be examined for danger to teams as well as to trains.

Other things that demand his vigil are outlying water stations, overhead wires and even the cattle loose in the fields. Some of these pedestrians are on the job every hour in the twenty-four to smooth the path for the hurrying millions gliding over the rails.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Therefore, the movements one makes are very small ones to correct this tendency. One's feet move just a little to and from upon the rudder bar.

This little "joggling" of the rudder is sufficient to keep the machine on a straight course. As regards the elevator, one is moving the rod in one's hand a matter of an inch or so only, and the same applies to the movements in manipulating the ailerons.

LATE AWARDS IN THE HORSE AND MULE SHOW.

FUN IN OBSTACLE DRIVING

Three Trials to Decide Contest in This Class—Interest Shown by Number of Entries.

The horse, mule and colt show given all day Wednesday as a feature of the street fair was certainly a success, and great interest was taken in it all day by the many visitors that were in the city. Many were the people who remarked during the show: "I didn't know that Nodaway county had so many fine horses."

In the best lady driver class, where the horse and buggy was furnished by the committee, and they were to drive between obstacles and ability of driver alone to count, there were only six entries, and every one of them were good. It looked for a time as if the contest would be tied, as a third trial was given to three of the entries, who had tied. Much amusement was had by the crowd out of this contest.

In the Shetland pony contest, to be shown under saddle by a child under 14 years of age, was the main feature of the afternoon show, as many amusing things happened. Many children entered the contest, and it took the judges some time to decide.

A QUEER SORT OF HOLIDAY.

The Missouri Statute recognizing Columbus Day is Anomalous.

Thursday, Columbus day, is a public holiday, but not a legal holiday, in Missouri. The distinction is of sufficient importance to prevent the closing of the banks, although bankers say they would be glad to celebrate the day if they could do so.

Lawyers say they do not know of another law in the state similar to that which the Missouri legislature passed a few years ago recognizing Columbus day. The act is as follows:

The twelfth day of October is hereby declared to be a public holiday, to be known as Columbus day, and the same shall be recognized, classed and treated as other legal holidays, under the laws of this state; provided, that this section shall not be construed to affect commercial paper, the making or executing of agreements or instruments in writing, or interfere with judicial procedures.

MEETING TO DISCUSS RURAL HIGH SCHOOL OCTOBER 18.

4 DISTRICTS IN HUGHES RING CEREMONY WAS USED

Highland, East Star, Elkhorn and Morgan May Have Only One School.

A meeting is to be held at the Palestine church, October 18, for the purpose of discussing a proposed plan of consolidating four rural school districts of Hughes township. The meeting is called by the school officers of the four districts, and the plan to consolidate the four districts into one seems to meet with the approval of many.

The four schools that are being talked of as being consolidated are the Highland, East Star, Morgan and Elkhorn. They are located in Hughes township.

A discussion of the proposed plan will be made at the meeting by County Superintendent Oakerson and W. A. Blagg, president of the Normal board of regents, and also the Maryville school board. Other talks will be made by local men.

If one rural school district is made the plan is to establish a rural high school in connection with the grades, and also to transport pupils that live in the outer district to the school.

The same proposition is being urged in the community of the Harmony church, near Ravenwood, by some of the rural schools.

Here's to the bride and groom of the street fair. May joys and good fortune attend them as bountifully in future as good wishes are showered upon them in their all important wedding day.

It must be rather galling to Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin to know that it cost him $107,000 to get a back seat in the United States senate when his colleague, Senator La Follette, got in the front row for $500.

The magnificent showing of good horses at the street fair Wednesday further convinces us that an old-time country fair would be a great success in Maryville, and is needed by the live stock interests of the county.

The St. Louis Cardinals and the St. Louis Browns, in their inner city match, played a 0 to 0 game until darkness stopped the contest. If they had played this kind of ball last summer there would have been different results in the big leagues.

The tremendous majority by which the amendment for the recall proposition has just carried in California must be a distinct shock to the president, who is now sojourning in the west, with a view to winning its support in the next nominating convention. Mr. Taft's vigorous denunciation of the recall principle and his denial of statehood to Arizona because the people of that territory wanted it, seems to have whetted the appetites of western voters for the very thing he would deny them. Woman suffrage carried in the state outside of San Francisco is possible to have healthy, vivacious hair, of perfect color, by a few

presents the following array of facts:

House painters and decorators complain that their business is injured materially by the increasing habit of the people to spend money for automobiles and neglect the interior finish of their homes.

The furniture trade has been affected seriously because householders cease buying in order to invest in the machines.

Real estate dealers complain of dullness in their line on account of the tendency of people to buy automobiles instead of lands and houses.

Theater managers assert that their business is in danger because of the claim which the horseless machines seem to possess over the attractions of the stage.

Dealers in musical instruments, book sellers, clothiers and costumers, in fact nearly all class of tradesmen and manufacturers join in evidence that the automobile craze is injuring their business.

The conditions are serious. But the craze must have its run.

Mrs. M. C. Bean of Creston, Ia., arrived in Maryville Wednesday to spend a few days with her daughter Mrs. Dan Holmes, and family.

THREW THE BODIES INTO RIVER

Blacks Leaving Town on Every Train and Steamboat—Mob Burns Boarding House of Disreputable Negroes.

Caruthersville, Mo., Oct. 12.—A. B. Rich and Hiram Picketts, two negroes, were shot to death by a mob here, and their bodies pitched into the Mississippi river.

The mob broke into the city jail shortly after midnight and dragged out the two negroes, carrying them to the baseball park near the river. Sounds of lashing and screams were heard. An hour later the mob burned a negro boarding house that had been the rendezvous of disreputable negroes.

Two white girls, Josie Faulk and Bessie Gee, were followed to their homes by Picketts. He was found hiding among shrubbery and arrested.

The body of Rich was found at the edge of the river. He had been lynched because he stole a package of merchandise and had not needed a warning to leave town. He had been in jail frequently, charged with stealing. It is said he was responsible for several mysterious fires.

A search has failed to recover the body of Picketts. His body was pitched farther out in the river and sank in deep water.

There has been excitement here since Lee Fleming and Albert Dugger were slain by a negro. He was arrested and taken to Kennett. A mob captured a train and reached the Kennett jail at midnight. But the negro had been taken from the jail and hidden.

Negroes are numerous in Caruthersville and opposition to them has been growing for some time. In several of the smaller towns of this vicinity notices have been posted advising negroes not to settle there or the consequences would be serious.

With every train and steamboat negroes are leaving. On account of the cotton picking season, Caruthersville has been overrun with negroes from the slums of the cities.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 12.—Gov. Hadley, who was on his way to Chicago, directed Secretary Thompson, to telephone the sheriff and to advise him at St. Louis whether there was further danger of violence. It so he would abandon the Chicago trip.

Mr. Thompson talked with the sheriff and prosecuting attorney.

They told him the city was quiet. When the governor returns from Chicago he will direct an investigation.

Lee Murder Trial Is Begun.

Lee, the 22-year-old self-confessed

slayer of his mother, father and brother, was placed on trial here today.

According to Lee, the motive for his

crime was the refusal of his parents

has made four confessions. It is expected that his lawyers will make a

plea of insanity. The crime was committed during the latter part of

Students of Chinese Affairs Believe Outbreak May Result in Dismemberment of Empire.

Hankow, China, Oct. 12.—The revolutionaries have captured the city of Wu Chang after a battle with the loyal troops that continued well into the night. Foreign residents are not being molested. The revolutionary committee issued a proclamation exhorting its followers not to harm the citizens of other countries.

The fact that the wishes of the committee have been respected thus far, while reassuring to other nations, is in itself a sinister sign for the government at Peking, as it indicates that the rebellious movement is now more thoroughly organized. There are 25 American missionaries in Wu Chang.

Five gunboats are now in the river in readiness to protect Hankow should the necessity arise. The foreign consuls also have telegraphed their governments asking that warships be sent to the scene. American and Japanese cruisers and several gunboats are hastening hither. As another measure of precaution the merchant vessels in the river are keeping steam up and women and children will be permitted to go aboard them for safety.

According to the officials an uprising in Wu Chang was planned for Monday night. The plot was discovered early that evening and 32 arrests were made. Desiring to terrorize the revolutionaries, four of the prisoners were beheaded in the street before the viceroy's yamen.

The energetic action of the authorities does not appear to have had the desired effect. Immediately after the beheading a part of the government artillery within the city mutinied and the uprising was precipitated.

The troops proved to be disaffected and within a few hours after the first trouble developed the entire city was in an uproar. Fires were started in every corner of the town; the headquarters of the viceroy and of the provincial treasurer were burned, the military commander was killed by a dynamite bomb and the viceroy himself escaped only by flight.

The foreign consuls decided not to comply with the Chinese request that they employ foreign gunboats to prevent the revolutionaries from crossing the river to Hankow. The revolutionaries sent a circular note to the consuls asking that foreigners remain neutral and assuring them that they would not be harmed.

Students of Chinese affairs have believed for a year or more that the signs pointed to a long series of outbreaks, which, many believe, will lead to the dismemberment of the empire.

AMERICAN CORN BROKE A TRUST

Combine of Rice Traders in Philippines Split by Clever Move of Gov. Gen'l Forbes.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Trust busting has spread to the Philippines. Gov. Gen. Forbes has blocked a combine of rice traders there to increase the price of the Philippines' staple food. Suspecting the combination Mr. Forbes arranged for an adequate supply of American corn to replace the rice and for the purchase of cargoes of rice in bulk in Indo-China. It will be sold at cost to the famine threatened natives.

As soon as the rice traders found that the Philippine government was entering into a competition with them they began to reduce prices. Gov. Forbes has just cabled that the figure will soon be normal.

KANSAS TEACHER IS MISSING

Has Not Been Seen Since Arriving in Wichita and Friends Fear Foul Play.

Wichita, Oct. 12.—Ralph Johnson, professor of mathematics at the Sterling high school, is sought in Wichita and surrounding towns by officers and friends who fear that he has been killed since reaching here.

Mr. Johnson rode into Wichita from Sterling with Calvin Knight, a school friend, who was coming from California to attend school here. Since leaving Knight at the depot Mr. Johnson has not been seen.

Don't Want Better Roads.

Winfield, Kan., Oct. 12.—Nearly 500 members of the Farmers' League met at the city building here to protest against the levy of the tax for the building of the proposed Winnie-Gulf road through Cowley county. The county commissioners had been requested to rescind the tax, and, refusing to do so, to resign. As they would neither rescind nor resign the league has determined to fight the proposition through the courts.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE IN SESSION

FORTY CITIES OF KANSAS MEET IN TOPEKA.

Fifty-one Towns Are Enrolled, Including Every City in State Except Eight—One Withdrawn.

Topeka, Oct. 12.—One hundred delegates, representing 40 cities of Kansas, were here for the first session of the annual meeting of the Municipal League of Kansas Cities. It was the best attendance the league has had and the enthusiasm over the discussion of civic problems was greater than ever before. The league includes all the cities of the state, both with and without commission government. There are 51 cities enrolled in the league, while there were only 34 enrolled a year ago. All except eight cities regarded the league of sufficient importance to pay the dues and some of the eight sent notices that they had overlooked the dues and would remit. Kinsley was the only city to withdraw.

Prof. R. R. Price of the state university, secretary of the league, in his annual report brought a proposition for municipal legal aid and loan service that interested the mayors and city officials.

C. L. Davidson, former mayor of Wichita and president of the league, in his annual address discussed civic problems from the viewpoint of a private citizen who had been a city official.

Five gunboats are now in the river in readiness to protect Hankow should the necessity arise. The foreign consuls also have telegraphed their governments asking that warships be sent to the scene. American and Japanese cruisers and several gunboats are hastening hither. As another measure of precaution the merchant vessels in the river are keeping steam up and women and children will be permitted to go aboard them for safety.

DEEPER WATER; BIGGER BOATS

Sixth Annual Waterway Convention in Chicago Fills Auditorium to Capacity.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—With a new slogan: "A Deeper Waterway; The Bigger the Boat, the Lower the Rate," the thousands of delegates to the sixth annual convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association gathered today in the Auditorium theater. The great theater was filled to the limit, the delegates representing every state and most of the large cities and commercial organizations. President W. K. Kavanaugh of St. Louis was in the chair, and after the speeches of welcome and responses, the convention got down to the business of considering the waterway project in all its phases.

On the three days' program are many men of national and even international reputation, including a number of governors. The aim of the association is to have congress at its next session pass a bill providing for the construction of a 14-foot channel from Chicago to New Orleans, at all costs. It is estimated that an annual appropriation of $20,000,000 for ten years will have to be made by the United States government, but this is considered of minor importance if 2,765,000 square miles, an area more than half the United States itself, will receive all the benefits of river freight and passenger service.

GOT "BLACK HAND" SUPPLIES

Chicago Police Find Quantity of Bombs, Explosives, Fuses, and List of Names in Grocery.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—What the police believe to be a black hand "clearing house" has been unearthed. Anthony Longoria, the proprietor of a grocery, and another man were taken into custody.

A large amount of "evidence" was seized by the police. This included bombs, dynamite, fuses, percussion caps and other explosives. The most important discovery, however, was a list of 150 names of persons who, it is alleged, have contributed sums to a fund to be used in defending Joseph and Carmelo Nicolosi, now on trial charged with kidnapping Angelo Mariano, a seven-year-old boy.

Boy Robbers Shot a Man.

Omaha, Oct. 12.—Baron Butts and John Gahn, boys of 18, are under arrest charged with the shooting of George Rosenkild, a motorman, while the boys were attempting to hold up a Harvey street car here. Rosenkild received a bullet in each leg. Butts is the son of a commission man. The youthful robbers obtained $9.

Montgomery to Aid Dawson.

Pittsburg, Kan., Oct. 12.—It is announced that W. P. Montgomery, assistant attorney general, who has been stationed here for the last year to enforce the prohibitory law, will leave and take a position in the office of Attorney General Dawson at Topeka.

Amateur Night Stopped by Court. Chickasha, Ok., Oct. 12.—Judge N. M. Williams granted an injunction against the manager of a local theater, enjoining him from putting on an amateur night. The judge decided that the using of children on amateur night was in violation of the state child labor law.

Why the Leaves Fall.

It is not everyone, even in these days of close nature study, who knows that leaves fall because they are actually cut off from the stem by a layer of cork that forms across the base of their stalks. This process is explained very strikingly by Professor Boulger in Knowledge, and what is more he points out that no nourishment is left in the dead leaf, but only the waste products of vitality, of which the tree is well rid. A very promising investigation is suggested by the illustrations, which show that in some trees the end leaf of a twig is the first to fall while in others it is last.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

FEW people are aware of the number of Dandruff Germs that infest the human hair and scalp. The germs which locate themselves in the follicle or sack which envelopes the root of the hair, spend a lazy existence in sucking up the juices which should go to keep life and strength in the hair. These germs cannot be seen by the naked eye, but with a magnifying glass of from 300 to 400 diameters the spores of this hair destroyer may be seen in masses, clinging to the hair.

DANDRUFF, ITCHING OF THE SCALP

How It Feels to Fly.

In his volume just published, "The Story of the Aeroplane," Mr. Claude Grahame-White, an experienced aviator and the winner of the Gordon Bennett cup last year, gives this account of one's impressions while driving through space:

Nothing is more graceful than the way in which an aeroplane leaves the ground. It does so without any suggestion of an effort. All one sees, in watching it, is that the wheels, which a moment before were on the ground, are now passing along a foot in the air.

On this point it is curious to remember the experience of passengers when starting upon a flight. So imperceptible is the change from moving along the ground to rising in the air that very few of them ever know when they have actually begun a flight. What happens is that they suddenly look down and discover that the ground has begun to fall away below them.

When you want to rise, you know perfectly well what to do. You tilt your elevator to a little more acute angle and the machine responds at once. Afterwards, well, as one flyer puts it, "You just fly." As you pass along through the air you very soon begin to lose the feeling that your engine is making very great noise.

You find yourself glancing below. When you are flying fairly close to the ground the fields and country appear to be slipping away very fast. But as you ascend higher you lose this sense of speed. As a matter of fact, at a good height you seem to be moving quite slowly.

As to the fascination of flight, what is it? I have studied it carefully and have compared my own sensations with those of others. One of the best definitions you can find of the general feeling a man has when he is flying is that it is a great curious sense of power.

This may not seem a very satisfactory explanation to the reader, but it is one of the best I can give. I think that, in the back of one's mind when one is flying, is the realization that one is doing something that man has striven in vain to do for many centuries.

It is partly a feeling of conquest. And now you can imagine yourself climbing steadily upward, with the ground fading away below. There is no finer sensation than this, I imagine. One of the most striking things in connection with flying is the responsiveness of one's machine to every controlling movement. While one is flying it is necessary to be making minor adjustments all the time. With one's rudder bar, for instance, one is always more or less occupied. The movements are, to some extent, instinctive. They are the sort of movements that a bicyclist makes to preserve the balance of his machine. All the time while you are flying your machine is being struck by little inequalities of air, and is showing a tendency either to move up or down or from side to side.

Therefore, the movements one makes are very small ones to correct this tendency. One's feet move just a little to and from upon the rudder bar. This little "joggling" of the rudder is sufficient to keep the machine on a straight course. As regards the elevator, one is moving the rod in one's hand a matter of an inch or so only, and the same applies to the movements in manipulating the ailerons.

A good deal of misconception exists as to the fatigue involved in making an aeroplane flight. Personally, I have found that fatigue is a negligible quantity, save when one is flying in gusty winds. Then, of course, the constant corrective movements that one is bound to make and the strain of keeping so incessant a control of one's machine is apt to have a very fatiguing effect.

As a matter of fact, I think there is less actual strain in piloting an aeroplane across the country than there is in driving a high-powered car from point to point along the road.

There is exhilaration, of course, in driving a well-found car on a good road, but this is a poor thing when piloting an aeroplane is compared with it.

To be in the air! To feel your motor speeding you on! To hold the lever and feel the machine while in flight answer to your slightest move! To look below and see the country unfolding itself to your gaze, and to know that you and you alone are the master of the situation—the man who is doing this wonderful thing! Realization of all these points gives you something of a feeling of awe.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help,
Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer."

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die.

At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains.

Cardui worked like a charm.

There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease.

Please try it, for your troubles.

WORLD'S CHAMPION WALKER.

Track Inspector Has Traveled Equivalent to Seven Times Around Globe.

George A. Burris, the oldest track walker in point of service on the Pennsylvania railroad, has just put his 177,900th mile behind him. In keeping vigil over the track in his care, he has walked the equivalent of seven and one-third times around the world in the last thirty-five years. Journeying four times a day between Greensburg, Pa., and Youngwood Yard, a distance of 3.53 miles, he has inspected 5,725,800 splice plates on half that many rail joints.

This may not seem a very satisfactory explanation to the reader, but it is one of the best I can give. I think that, in the back of one's mind when one is flying, is the realization that one is doing something that man has striven in vain to do for many centuries.

It is partly a feeling of conquest. And now you can imagine yourself climbing steadily upward, with the ground fading away below. There is no finer sensation than this, I imagine. One of the most striking things in connection with flying is the responsiveness of one's machine to every controlling movement. While one is flying it is necessary to be making minor adjustments all the time. With one's rudder bar, for instance, one is always more or less occupied. The movements are, to some extent, instinctive. They are the sort of movements that a bicyclist makes to preserve the balance of his machine. All the time while you are flying your machine is being struck by little inequalities of air, and is showing a tendency either to move up or down or from side to side.

Track inspection is reduced to an exact science on the Pennsylvania. A patrolman registers in the tower at the end of his beat the hour and minute of his arrival; departs on his journey and registers similarly on the other end. He carries a registering clock, by which his trips can be checked to the minute. His route usually covers about four miles, but is less than half this on stretches where special watchfulness is needed. At night the inspector has only the light of his lantern to work by, but he must see that every frog, switch and signal is in good order.

If a nearby tree looks dangerous, he must report, so that it can be chopped down. An overhanging rock may become loose—the track walker must know about it in time to avert a possible accident. The wash of waters must be looked after. Road crossings must be examined for danger to teams as well as to trains.

Other things that demand his vigil are outlying water stations, overhead wires and even the cattle loose in the fields. Some of these pedestrians are on the job every hour in the twenty-four to smooth the path for the hurrying millions gliding over the rails.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

One Text Wasn't Popular.

The president's pastor, Dr. U. S. G. Pierce, who is also chaplain of the senate, used to spend his summers camping in Colorado, where a party of cowboys elected him their "chaplain."

When they were clearing their dance hall preparatory to his holding his first Sunday services therein, the clergyman called one of their leaders aside and sounded him on the subjects which might be most appropriate for a sermon.

"Mosten anything you're a mind to say 'I do, dominie,'" answered the cowboy, "if you'll just cut out the prodigal son. That's about the only Bible text the boys are sore on."—Philadelphia Record.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Vickery of Arkoe were in the city Wednesday.

Eugene Ogden went to St. Joseph Thursday morning for a several days' stay on cattle business.

Clarence Steiger of Ravenwood was brought to St. Francis hospital Thursday and was operated on by Drs. Walulis, assisted by Dr. Hunterson of Ravenwood.
